Jasper Zwaan from Beech class presents:
cat Zane, who we found in the bushes last October when he was only 6 weeks old.

'In a house there was a pitch black cat called Zane. He has a great sense of humour because he always makes me laugh. For example, when he's chasing his toy mouse it's very funny. But sometimes he can be annoying too. Once he actually peed on my bed when I was in it! Having a cat is lots of work, you have to tell him what he can and can't do and also clean his litter tray which stinks! But he's also very cute especially when I hold him and he's purring. I love having him in our house!'

Fiona Daza Banos from Willow class presents: Molly

My dog is 2 years old, her name is Molly. She loves to play with balls, she's a English Springer Spaniel. She is really fast. Her colour is white and brown. Her ears are down and they're very fluffy.

Pranav Vijay from
Willow class presents:

Rudolph the Reindeer

Josh from Alder class presents:

My Guinea Pig

One of my pets is a guinea pig named Pixi. She is black, white and brown and she loves eating fruit and vegetables. She is very curious, but if you spook her she'll bolt away.

Guinea Pigs

Guinea Pigs are part of the rodent family, which means they are closely related to hamsters, mice, rabbits and more. Guinea pigs are fibrevores, meaning their diet consists mainly of fruit and veg.

My Bearded Dragon

My other pet is a species of Lizard called a Bearded Dragon. His name is Edward, but we just call him Eddie. He eats Cockroaches, Worms and Other Insects.

Bearded Dragons

Bearded Dragons are a species of lizard. They have a large spiky beard for mating. When Bearded Dragons get mad or feel threatened, their beard will puff out and turn black. A Bearded Dragon is a carnivorous animal so they eat mainly insects, but on rare occasions they may even eat baby mice and eggs!
